UNION HIGH ACTIVITIES

"DRIVES," BASKET BALL CONTESTS, SENIOR PLAY, FEATURE LAST WEEK

The present week is a kind of round-up at Union High where Christmas "drives" for the benefit of many worthy causes will be considered at assemblies, and social functions and entertainments create a holiday atmosphere. Try-outs in athletics will also be included in the program.

Girls' League

Yesterday the Girls' League, which undertakes to be a mother or a rich aunt to poor little girls who lack those relations, held an assembly to consider ways and means for providing needed underwear for these orphans. It finally decided to take money from its treasury to purchase the materials and have them made up by the sewing section of the Domestic Science Department. The League will also participate in the general assemblies at which Christmas donations of food, money and clothing will be solicited.

An interesting feature of the Girls' League is its method of accumulating funds. This is by dollar dues which members are required to earn in some way. It puts the organization on a democratic basis and takes it out of the mendicant class, i.e. it is not constantly soliciting funds from parents or the public generally.

Inter-class Basket Ball

Yesterday afternoon the basket ball game between Freshmen and Sophomores came off, the Sophomores winning by a score of 26 to 16. In the game between Seniors and Juniors, played last Friday, the Seniors won in a score of 20 to 12. The winning teams are to play against each other Wednesday, and to the winner in this last contest will be awarded the interclass championshrip.

Senior Play

Friday, in the seventh and eighth period, i.e. from 2 to 3:30 p. m., the Senior play will be staged in the assembly hall. It is a comedy called "Chums," with a cast of five boys, three of whom will play girl parts. Those who have had the privilege of attending rehearsals declare it will be a delightfully amusing affair.

Christmas Drive

The Christmas "drive" when donations of food, clothing, money etc., will be sought was set for Tuesday between 11 and 12.

Spanish Play

One of the important organizations of the school is the Spanish Club, which has a membership of between 50 and 60. At the Tuesday assembly it gives a Spanish play, and Friday afternoon it is to have a party in the Cafeteria. Hot tamales and other Spanish delicacies will be served, and the light guitar will be in evidence as an entertainer.

TO BECOME A BIRD MAN

Alonzo Reifenberick, who formerly lived in Tropico and who has many friends in the twin cities, passed through Los Angeles Friday night en route from American Lake to San Antonio. He had about twenty minutes between trains which his parents and grandmother improved to have a visit with him, and very delighted they were to see him looking so well and so happy. He is a mechanical engineer and was asked by his superior officers at Camp Lewis if he would take up aviation work. When he consented they arranged for his transfer to San Antonio. He expects to be able to fly in about ten months.

A FINE ANCESTRY

Mrs. E. B. Davey and new baby were brought home from Thorny-croft Hospital Sunday to their new home at 1104½ West Broadway, where they will soon be prepared to receive the congratulations of their friends. The name of the new citizen is to be Richard Beaumont. His advent is a matter of great interest which extends beyond the confines of Glendale even to Illinois where he has a great great grandfather in the person of Cornelius Snyder, a resident of Port Byron near Rock Island. Though almost 100 years of age, he is still a vigorous man and a living demonstration of what life in the open can do for physical development. He was born in the Allegheny Mountains and hunted and trapped a good share of his life, taking the weather as it came and spending nearly all of his time out of doors. Like most such, he carries no superfluous flesh, but is tough and wiry. Richard Beaumont is his first great great grandchild and a vigorous youngster who, it is hoped, will carry out the traditions of the family.

EXEMPTION BOARD

REGISTERED MEN MAY CONSULT LEGAL ADVISORY BOARD AFTER DEC. 16TH

The Exemption Board, which is hard at work in its headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Assembly room, 1010 W. Broadway, is succeeding admirably in compiling the statistics demanded by the Provost-Marshal General for his report to Congress through the kind clerical assistance of R. D. White, supervising principal of the Glendale City Schools, Miss Ida Waite, principal of the Colorado Boulevard School, O. H. Spencer, Miss Hatch, Misses Frances and Elizabeth Jackson and Anna Hook. They have also helped in the preparations for sending out the Questionnaires.

Mr. Lanterman states that the Board expects to send from Los Angeles the balance of the men needed to fill its quota on the 19th of this month. The men who will fill this quota will not receive Questionnaires as they have already been selected and are to be sent to American Lake as part of the original 125 from this district.

Legal Advisory Board

The Legal Advisory Board under the chairmanship of H. S. McKay, of La Canada, will be in continuous session from and after the 16th of this month, except holidays and Sundays, at the headquarters of the Exemption Board for the purpose of giving all registrants free information regarding the requirements of the Questionnaires. This service is voluntary on the part of the attorneys and for the benefit of the registrants and the Exemption Board, to the end that the Questionnaires may be properly answered, and in order that registrants may have all their rights amply protected. Registrants are advised and urged to avail themselves of this service.

The Legal Advisory Board is under the control of the Council of Defense of which Judge Gavin W. Craig is chairman.

Seven days will be allowed in which to answer the questions in the Questionnaire, and the Exemption Board is prohibited from granting any extension of time for the return of the Questionnaire, so it is necessary that strict attention be paid by all registrants to the requirements of the government to protect themselves in their rights.

GLENDALE'S FUTURE

J. F. Lilly is quite optimistic over the future of Glendale and her recently acquired consort. While building operations are not very lively, this is owing greatly to the necessarily high cost of material. But if one looks the entire field over he will see that quite a number of new houses are going up. One at Central and Chestnut, one on Central near First, three in the Valley View tract, and others in different parts of town. It is not likely that there can be any reduction in price of building material for several years owing to the great demand for ship building and it is likely that some who have held off construction of business buildings in hope of some price reduction, will decide to wait no longer. Indeed, one man intimated the probability of his doing that very thing, and soon.

VISIT CAMP KEARNY

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Kent accompanied by Mr. Kent's mother, Mrs. C. W. Kent and his sister, Miss Evelyn, Mrs. R. L. Ferguson and Mrs. Ernest Bode motored to Camp Kearny, Sunday and spent a very pleasant day visiting their soldier relatives and friends. Mrs. Ferguson visited a brother who is stationed at Fort Kearny and Mrs. Bode visited her son, William Bode. While there all were entertained at dinner by Rev. T. F. McCrea and Sergeant Sadler. Sergeant Sadler asked the visitors to convey his best wishes to Glendale friends and promises to have a letter published in the Evening News in the near future.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pecoy are today quietly celebrating the anniversary of their marriage which occurred fifty years ago at Little Rock, Ill. Their daughter, Mrs. R. R. Stubbs, is entertaining for them tonight at her home, 310 Cedar street, with a family dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Pecoy's other children are all in the east so the company is limited to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs and the guests of honor. A beautiful wedding cake will have a prominent place on the festive board which will be centered by a tall vase containing fifty carnations to commemorate the fifty years the bride and groom have lived together.

ZANGWILL MAY REALIZE DREAM

SEPARATE INDEPENDENT JEWISH STATE IN PALESTINE IS POSSIBLE AS RESULT OF BRITISH VICTORY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, December 11.—Israel Zangwill saw his dreams of a Jewish Republic coming true today. Such a separate independent state in Palestine is probable as the result of the reclamation by the British from infidel hands of the holy city of Jerusalem. He would call the Republic Jusca and have it under the protection of some great world power temporarily while a permanent government is being established.

ASK DETAILS OF WAR PLANS

SENATE MILITARY COMMITTEE ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF MILITARY SITUATION, ESPECIALLY DRAFT ARMY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 11.—A searching investigation into the whole military situation, particularly the organization, training and equipment of the new National army, has been ordered by the Senate Military Affairs committee.

Secretary Baker will be asked to give the exact details of America's war preparation. Special attention is to be paid to the new draft army, which has been the subject of many complaints as to equipment, clothing and supplies which have been slow in coming, thus hampering war work.

The exact conditions at the cantonments are to be given to quiet all rumors as to prevailing conditions in the great army.

PROBE SUGAR AND COAL SITUATION

SENATE MANUFACTURES COMMITTEE ORDERS NATION-WIDE INVESTIGATION OF SHORTAGE OF PRODUCTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GERMANS PLAN BIGGEST OFFENSIVE

WILL TRY TO OVERWHELM BRITISH AND FRENCH BEFORE AMERICAN FORCES ARRIVE ON WEST FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMSTERDAM, December 11.—Plans for the greatest of all Germany's offensive campaigns were laid at a meeting of Field Marshall Hindenburg, Premier Hertling and Quartermaster-General Ludendorff, according to dispatches received here today.

British and French troops are to be overwhelmed according to German plans before American troops in force arrive on the west front. German troops from the Dutch frontier and from the Russian front are being rushed to the western line.

ORDER RESTORED IN LISBON

ENTERTAIN VETERANS

SONS OF VETERANS DO HONOR TO SURVIVORS OF THE CIVIL WAR

Veterans of the N. P. Banks Post and Corps and guests from other posts were entertained last night by Sons of Veterans at G. A. R. Hall. A modest banquet was served and a program of music and speech making given.

The address of welcome was made by A. J. Van Wie who dwelt on the high privilege of being the son of a veteran. He said:

"Nearly a generation has passed since that first gun at Fort Sumpter when some two million men went forth in battle to obey the orders of their commanders and face death at every step, not for honor, glory or reward, but to defend their firesides, their country, their flag and the principles for which it stood. * * To us the fact that our fathers and grandfathers are veterans of the War of the Rebellion, that we are the sons and grand-sons of the Grand Army of the Republic, puts us on a plane by ourselves, a little higher than our less fortunate fellows. * * We pledge allegiance to our flag and to the principles for which it stands. We pledge love and protection to our wives and families, but to you, veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, we pledge honor and respect for the inheritance handed down to us. One hand,—one heart,—one land— a nation indivisible, with love and justice for all."

Rev. Charles R. Norton made an eloquent and fitting response. Then Mrs. Van Wie sang a solo and Comrade Goss sang an Irish song. Old songs were sung in which the veterans could join, not all of them patriotic but all of them familiar. Jack Strathem closed the entertainment provided by the "Sons" with his famous "Mental Telepathy and Escape Act" and the veterans were then called upon in turn to give brief reminiscences of the war.

When the war stories were over the banquet was spread and instead of being served in the banquet room, which could not be heated, the tables were laid in the big auditorium where all could dine in the comfort afforded by a brisk wood fire. After supper Comrade Charles Bock, who last week celebrated his 89th birthday, but who is still as light on his feet as a boy, did a "buck and wing" dance encouraged by the plaudits of his admiring audience.

Mrs. Winona Crawford was the accompanist of the evening and other wives and daughters of Sons of Veterans came out to enjoy the entertainment, which was a tremendous success and largely attended.

RETURN OF ELDER ANDROSS

Elder E. E. Andross, president of the Pacific Union Conference, has just returned from a two months' trip east. He spent some time in Minneapolis attending the Fall Council of the World Conference Committee and the North American Division Conference Committee. These two committees handle the business of the Conference in the interim between the general conferences which are held once in four years both for the world field and the North American field. He is a member of these two committees and has charge of the work of four states. On his return trip he came by way of Milton, Oregon, and visited relatives. He had an attack of appendicitis while there and underwent an operation at the Walla Walla Sanitarium at College Place. Though still feeling the effects, he is now able to attend to his work though he has to exercise care not to overtax himself. He spent Monday at Loma Linda attending the board meeting of the Loma Linda College of Medical Evangelists, of which he is chairman.

STREET CAR PROBLEM

The street car congestion problem in spite of years of wrestling by municipal authorities and indignant commuters, is still most vexing. This morning, for instance, our reporter noticed the 7:28 train of two cars on the P. E. It slowed down at Lomita avenue loaded to the guards, and there were a dozen or more people waiting there to crowd on, while at every stop far down the line, could be seen others. At a low estimate, 50 people stood all the way to a wearisome day's work. Another car would have just about given everyone a seat. And this is a daily occurrence not once but several times. Complaining as they do of the constant encroachment of the auto buses it would seem to the uninitiated that a determined effort would be made by the car companies to give each patron a seat, especially the working people.

VISIT CAMP KEARNY

W. D. McRAE, STATE Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY TELLS OF WORK IN ARMY CAMP

"Mrs McRae and I were tremendously pleased with our trip to Camp Kearny," said W. D. McRae, of 1545 Myrtle street, who had just returned from a trip to San Diego and Linda Vista. "Of course," he said "being one of the state Y. M. C. A. secretaries and having done some real hustling in the big war work drive, I was most interested in seeing if the Association was really making good in such a magnificent way as we had been led to believe.

"On approaching the camp we were halted by the guard and politely told it was not visitors' day. But the statement that we were actively interested in the Young Men's Christian Association, and wished to visit the organization, brought a ready smile and the word, 'Go right ahead.'

"'We have a full program tonight as usual,' said Mr. Jackson the genial executive secretary, 'You'll see something doing all right.'

"And we surely did. We made the rounds of the five buildings and found every building packed.

"The program consisted of 'stunts' of various kinds interspersed with music from the ridiculous to the sublime, all of it however, greatly appreciated. The fact that Dvorak's Humoreske received by far the greatest applause testified to the fine character and musical taste of our soldier boys.

"'We must double the capacity of our five buildings' said one of the secretaries. 'There are many men who do not come because they cannot get in. You see how every inch of space at those writing tables is taken? The men certainly do write letters, about 9,000 a day are mailed for our five buildings. Here, by the way, is my report for last month. Notice that item $16,000 in postal money orders sold, 1200 athletic games played, 10 distinctly religious meetings held. I tell you the boys are not afraid of real religion. A man with a message packs the building. That reminds me, we started our Bible classes last Sunday

THE GLENDALE FLOAT

The Glendale float committee of which the members are Mrs. H. S. Duffield, Roy L. Kent, Mrs. E. M. Tuft, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, and C. W .McFadden are doing very active work in preparing a float to be entered at the tournament of roses, Pasadena, January 1.

The plan upon which the committee is working is so unique and attractive that no publicity is given it fearing the ideas if made public so early, may be worked out by neighboring cities. The one thing however, that may be presented to the public at the present time is the need of flowers. Persons who have flowers that may be donated are asked to correspond with Mrs. Duffield, chairman of the committee, 1222 Lomita avenue, phone Sunset Glendale 28W.

The float will be built under the direction of the Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross, and to this chapter will be awarded all honor and all prizes won at the tournament.

ON THE BORDER

Mrs. P. A. Wells, of 328 South Maryland, has busied herself this week packing a box to send to her boy on the Mexican frontier, Neal Wells, who enlisted last April. He is one of the youngest boys in the service as he was under seventeen when he offered himself to Uncle Sam. He was first sent to Angel Island, then to Fort Riley, Kansas, then to Fort Bliss and is now at the Presidio in Texas, with Troop I of the Eighth Cavalry, who are guarding the border. It is safe to predict that the box will be welcome.

TRANSFER OF TROOPS

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, of Central avenue, received a message Saturday from their son Dwight, that under orders he had packed and made ready to move "somewhere" and desired them to forward no more mail to him at Camp Lewis. Rumors current in the camp were to the effect that the transfer of troops would be to either New York or the Linda Vista camp. Mrs. Stephenson believes Dwight would prefer the former as it would be more of a novelty than Linda Vista. She will probably receive further news in a day or two.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE QUESTION

Some time ago I wrote for the News an article on saving, in which I stated that we had not yet begun to really save and pointed to the sums spent for candy and moving picture shows. I added, "Not that I condemn these but wish to call attention to what we may yet have to come to." My text, of course, was Mr. Hoover's constant injunction to "Save! Save!" My attention was recently called by a candy manufacturer and dealer to the fact that there was another side to this saving question that I had entirely overlooked, and that my expressed views really worked an injustice to his business and indirectly to all business. I urged him to state fully his point of view and it seemed so reasonable to me and convinced me so thoroughly that my own views if carried out would come far from bringing about real saving, that I want to present this gentleman's ideas fully. He said Mr. Hoover's constant admonition is to buy reasonably, eat all you need, but waste nothing. He did not want people to stint themselves, but urged them not to waste what was left. Not to save in buying but to save in using. He wanted business to remain normal. But the people, anxious to serve their country by obeying the food administrator, went to extremes. They cut down their buying greatly and instead of hoarding food they hoarded money. For instance, candy eaten in moderation, especially chocolates, is healthful, as is instanced by the government furnishing it to the soldiers at times. Ice cream, also, is most healthful. But the result of the people's over-zeal, according to our informant, was the forcing out of business of many candy makers and grocers, with resultant losses in rentals, etc. The candy manufacturers are restricted in their sugar supply, hence are doing their bit, and should be encouraged by liberal buying of the little they are allowed to produce. Our informant stated that the workingmen, almost without exception, are the true examples of Mr. Hoover's saving plan. They buy carefully, but buy what they need, not only strictly food products but healthful candies and nuts, pay for them cheerfully, then maybe go to a picture show and return home happy and contented. They save in buying and they save in not wasting. People with money, on the other hand, hoard their funds, many of them. They reproach the candy makers for not saving sugar, and refuse to buy candy or ice cream, but maybe buy a lot of cigars. Then they'll go home and waste a lot of that sugar they induced some merchant to secretly sell them by the sack or two or three sacks, thus violating one of Mr. Hoover's stringent admonitions, by making up a batch of candy, maybe spoiling it in the making and thus wasting some more. And the candy maker, whose sugar supply is cut in half and who could have sold that candy to them at a saving because of his skill in manufacturing it, is reproached as a waster, and deprived of his just profit. Our informant insists that the business man gets it on all sides. His profits are cut by the prices at which he must sell his commodities, his sales are decreased, he is stigmatized as a waster by the very people who are the real wasters, and maybe is forced out of business finally by the very people he is seeking to serve and to help.

I am glad to present these views of a representative business man of Glendale so that all the people may get his point of view and decide for themselves if his contentions are just.

THE AUTOMOBILE IS NOT A PLEASURE VEHICLE

"Would you call your two feet a pleasure vehicle?" asks a prominent auto sales manager. "Certainly not," he says. "Then don't speak of an auto as a pleasure vehicle. It is simply a better pair of feet and also a pair of wings." Then he goes on to say:

"Stop speaking of your passenger car as 'a pleasure vehicle.' It is no more a pleasure vehicle than the farmer's plow."

True wisdom. The automobile that carries passengers, of course, does give pleasure. So does the carpenter's saw and the woodman's axe if they cut well. But "pleasure" is the least part of the modern vehicle for carrying passengers.

The automobile gives wings to the man that owns it. It doesn't merely give him pleasure, it adds twenty-four hours to his day, if he must travel as the doctor does, and incidentally it adds many figures to his annual income.

The passenger vehicle which takes out the father and mother, grandmother and children, as it leaves the house with its load, is more like a family doctor than a mere "pleasure vehicle." It is taking the whole family at once into the fresh air, filling all the lungs of the family with oxygen that goes into the blood, burns up waste tissue and makes a healthy group.

You might just as well call the doctor who comes and attends to you a "pleasure doctor," as to call the automobile that takes you out to health, sunshine and fresh air, "a pleasure vehicle."

If you said to a big American eagle, sitting on the edge of his rock: "Are those your pleasure wings?" he would laugh at you and reply: "No those are just my wings. Without them I would be nothing, a poor kind of bird."

And if you asked him what price he would take for those wings he would laugh once more, give one or two flaps and sail across the valley away from such a silly questioner.

So it is with the man who has his automobile, for himself, for his business, for his family, for their health, for the lengthening of his day and of his life, for the increasing of business capacity.

That car, he would say to you, "is not my pleasure vehicle, it is just my wings."

And if you advised him to do without it, he would be as much surprised as though you asked the eagle to sell his left wing and take cash in exchange.

Wise economy consists in making your family healthier and more valuable to the nation. Wise economy consists in making your day longer and your day's work more efficient, more constructive.

In the case of at least ninety-nine men out of a hundred who have business to do, and who have the money to buy an automobile, the buying of an automobile is common sense economy, simply the buying of a pair of wings, the adding of hours to the day, the giving of health to the family.

TOWARDS DEMOCRACY CLUB

The introductory paper for last Sunday morning's program: The discussion of Political Democracy, was presented to the club by Rev. N. J. Wright as follows:

On Democracy

A scientific writer used the positive statement "Progress is evolution." The term evolution is always understood as tending toward perfection. Perfection is like "tomorrow"—it is always just ahead. It is that, which when it is come, every thing which is in "part shall be done away." Even progress itself will have ceased to be.

To illustrate, let us take a demonstration of mechanical evolution—the development of the railroad locomotive. At the World's Fair at Chicago in the mechanical arts exhibit, stood side by side the DeWit Clinton—the first effect of locomotive construction in America and the celebrated greyhound passenger locomotive No. 999, and neither ashamed of the other for the last word in locomotive construction had not been said. Since that time a locomotive has been built that would make No. 999 a mere toy, and the end may not be yet.

Thus it is in all the arts and sciences where mind has conquered and organized matter and the forces of nature and made them to serve in adopted circles with accuracy and advantage. It is only in social science that the race has shown stupidity and has lacked both interest and application. In this realm we have not encouraged progressive thinking nor permitted changes to be made when an evolutionary thought tried to force itself upon us.

We have merely gone far enough in sociological science to coin the word "Democracy" but have not systematized the social order on the suggested idea which it contained.

In every demonstration, the argument proceeds from admitted premises to the full establishment of the proposition. Any argument, therefore, which we might build for the defence of democracy, historic, current or presaged should rest on the bed rock of admitted and axiomatic definitions.

The term "democracy" is originally from the Greek—from "demos" meaning people and "krateo" meaning to rule. It is the term adopted by the French at the overthrow of the monarchy and is the one most commonly applied to our own government. It is defined in the Standard lexicon as, "The political system in which government is directly exercised or controlled by the people collectively; government by the people." Slightly more comprehensive in another definition, "Political and legal equality—a state of society without class distinctions made or favored by either law or custom."

From both historic examples and current experiences we are forced to the conclusion, in the light of these definitions, that the standards of democratic science are high beyond all the previous experiences of the race, because they include the regeneration (I borrow this term from the gospel and not from orthodoxy) of the whole man in every one of his activities. The world lesson of today, a lesson of stupendous severity, is that ideals however desirable, standards however exalted, if they are to prevail must have behind them a citizenry and a leadership trained to the support of these ideals, accustomed to their authority, eager for their maintenance, eager to the point of sacrifice of everything but these ideals and their supremacy. If it were possible to contemplate a future wherein these principles were to become commonplace and ineffective from lack of devotion to their highest demands, it would be to face a tragedy more terrible than the present holocaust for the overthrow of the allied forces of autocracy. Recreant to its best hopes will this world be if it shall permit the time to pass by in which this is possible through civic action. Hence our "Towards Democracy Club."

Let me add this word in conclusion. I sincerely believe that this club has in its organization opened up the way and will make possible the means to make good citizens out of bad ones and better citizens out of the already good; and that in its weekly offerings through its specially prepared programs give a new meaning to "patriotism" and infuse a more fervid spirit into the term "loyalty."

To this end let us pledge our lives our fortunes and our sacred honor, believing as we do that the best government is that which desires to make the people happy and knows how to make them happy."

By way of conclusion Mr. Wright said that all the detours and deflections from democracy are equally true of Christianity; all owing to imperfections of man, not the falsity of the ideal. He called attention to the commands in the book of Genesis where man was given "dominion" over the earth and all it contained to subdue it but not dominion over each other.

Mr. Durham said that civilization lost sight of any but political democracy which is only the beginning.

Mr. Salyer Jr. said our hope of progress in democracy lies in the fact that not even a majority of all the units of population must be put in line. Out of our 92,000,000 people only 16,000,000 register and between five and six million votes elects a president.

Mr. Salyer said that even what political democracy we have is vitiated by the lack of proportional representation.

Mrs. Salyer said that it seemed that in early times the individual unit was prominent but that man first learned co-operation in war, and even yet had not much extended it.

Mr. Hitchcock said the way of man in the mass is like the progress of the protoplasmic amoeba as it moves it separates into parts some of which get far ahead of others. As you go down street you meet some beings developed into the 25th century, others not out of the first. In point of efficiency autocratic government is most perfect but not always wise; the aristocratic embodies more wisdom but is not always honest; democracy as honestly tending to serve the interests of all is best. But much responsibility devolves on the most advanced to teach others.

Mrs. Hitchcock said that the world seemed to progress only by knocks and bumps. The present war is one of the greatest of such bumps by means of which the people think.

Discussion turned on hints of Democracy among ancient peoples and Mr. Durham spoke of the democratic feature in Canaan established by Moses: namely the earliest attempt of an equitable form of land tenure so no one would be forever dispossessed of his share of land.

Others spoke of the so-called democracy of early Greece and Rome, and discussed the condition of slavery as vitiating any true democracy.

Next meeting is December 16, at 10 a. m. cor. Colorado and Central.

"DAD" AUGUSTUS, ILL

Tropico was dismayed when it learned that H. W. Augustus, of 137 W. Tropico avenue, had suffered a slight stroke of paralysis Sunday afternoon, and that some other man would have to take charge of Uncle Sam's mail bags in their transit to and from the post office. For years he has carried the bags, rain or shine. Sometimes he used a small push cart, sometimes drove a pretty little horse who between trips was a pampered pet, but everybody along the route knew him and watched for his coming, particularly the babies who would run or crawl to the curb to be tossed in his fatherly arms, for they all loved him and he loved them, and every dog and cat on the road as well. Doctor Joseph Marple who is attending him, reports improvement and says "Dad," as Mr. Augustus is affectionately called, will soon enjoy his customary health and strength.

When one reads of the awful cold in the East and the scarcity of fuel in many cities, he can be glad that in our own little city dealers have been able to command a sufficient supply of fuel to see the winter through if care and economy are used.

Mr. and Mrs. John Camphouse, of 121 North Maryland avenue, are the proud parents of a baby daughter born this morning at the Thornycroft Hospital. She will be called Marjorie Virginia. Mother and daughter are doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Windas, who have been living at 111 North Glendale avenue, have moved to 122 East Tenth street. They make the change because they desired a larger house. They house they have vacated has been rented to new comers from Los Angeles.

If you did not receive a card inviting you to the third monthly get-together luncheon of the business and professional men of the Glendale community, consider yourself invited anyway, and phone your reservation at once to Glendale 132 and Home 2401.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bancroft, who have been residing on Laurel avenue, for several months, have moved to Hollywood where Mr. Bancroft is employed in the drafting department of the Laskey studio. Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, who is a fond grandmother, is quite desolated to have them remove her grandchild.

While the price of eggs is slowly dropping, owing probably to a more restricted use of them, butter is sky rocketing again, the price having advanced four cents in the last few days. It is not likely that there will be a further advance of any moment and indeed, a reaction of a cent or two would not be surprising.

Gilbert A. Cowan, who more than a week ago enlisted in the Aviation Corps and has since been at Angel Island, San Francisco, has passed all examinations successfully and will go through Los Angeles tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock en route for San Antonio, Texas, where he will be assigned regular duties in Uncle Sam's big military family.

She came here from Ocmulgea, Oklahoma, where she had been visiting with another daughter since September. She was joined in Kansas City, Missouri, by Mr. Theobald, her son-in-law, who had been in Toledo, Ohio, working in a big brass foundry for a few months.

Week end visitors at the home of M. P. Harrison, 245 S. Kenwood street, were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Gamble, of Long Beach; Mrs. E. Bigelow, of Utica, New York, sister of Mr. Gamble; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Brigham of Belleville, Kansas, and Miss Katherine Skillen, of Long Beach. All former friends of Belleville, Kansas. The party, including Mr. and Mrs. Harrison and Inez, enjoyed an auto trip on Saturday by way of La Canada, Sunland, San Fernando and the old mission and Santa Susana, where all did justice to a picnic luncheon; then home by way of Owensmouth and Van Nuys where Mrs. H. M. Lennox joined the party. All voted the day a most successful outing, and as goodbyes were said Sunday afternoon plans were made for future visits over old time friendships.

JESSE WILL FLY

POPULAR FORD AGENCY PROPRIETOR ENLISTS IN THE AVIATION SERVICE

That expert automobile drivers and first class automobile salesmen take to flying seems very evident from what is transpiring in Glendale. Not many months ago, Les Meyer who had many records as a salesman of ability and a faultless auto driver enlisted as a flier and is now being instructed in the aerial art at Berkeley. Now it comes to pass that Jesse E. Smith, who for more than two years has been propretor of the Ford agency at Glendale and who is known to all as a successful salesman a few days ago enlisted as an aviator and is now at San Diego awaiting further instructions from the government. Mr. Smith is of that make up that he will succeed admirably as a flier. He undoubtedly will take up this military calling with as much enthusiasm as he has shown in conducting his business. It is just such fellows as Jesse and thousands like him who will capture the Kaiser ere long.

WILL HAVE LARGE ATTENDANCE

Judging from the way the acceptance cards are being sent in the get-together luncheon to be held Thursday at 12 o'clock noon, at the Masonic Temple will be largely attended. E. C. Thomas of the Pacific Electric Traffic Department, will be the after luncheon speaker.

LAST SUNDAY AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Elder Clifford Cole was pretty "fit" Sunday morning and "went over the top" most gallantly. His morning sermon on "Practicing My Profession" was not a hit at the doctor, the lawyer, or anything of that kind, but was a straight from the shoulder admonition to the professing Christian to stand four square before the world as a follower of Christ, and no matterr what was asked of him in the Lord's service to do it. There is just as much honor in doing the little things and doing them cheerfully as in doing great things. Even though all you can do is to hold down a seat in the church building, if you do that regularly and are an attentive listener, you cheer your pastor and set an example to others.

In the evening the pastor's subject was "The Joy of Religion" and he read several brief passages of scripture, both in the old and new testament, telling of the joys that come to the follower of God. He said the too common conception of the Christian is a solemn individual with a 2x4 face instead of a being that radiated joy from every feature. David the "man after God's own heart," said, "I was glad when they said let us go up to the house of Jehovah," and it ought to be the joy of every follower of the martyred Christ to go often to the house erected for His worship. The Christian Endeavor topic "Here Am I Send Me" was commented on very intelligently by the young people.

So far as we have heard all the Sunday Schools of the city will dispense with the usual Christmas treat to pupils and most of them will devote the money usually so applied to the Armenian relief fund. The little folk take most eagerly to the plan and set an example of cheerful sacrifice to their elders.

LUTHERAN NIGHT

Monday night was a splendid night for the men and women of the First Lutheran church of Glendale. It was "Men's night" and "Women's night" in the interest of the Lutheran church here. The Men's Lutheran Brotherhood met in the church while the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society met in the parsonage near by. Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Dysinger of Los Angeles, were present to encourage the work. Rev. Dysinger spoke to the men on the world's great crisis along religious lines and the part the church will have to take in it. Mrs. Dysinger spoke to the women along missionary lines, giving also a graphic account of her daughter's experience in her recent trip across the Atlantic to the West Coast of Africa, to Muehlenberg Mission, Liberia, where she is now engaged in missionary work. All agreed the "night" was well planned and very profitable.

STARVATION THREATENS POLAND

The general population—infants and small children in particular—living in that part of Poland back of the German lines, who are threatened with starvation, are the objects of an appropriation of $200,000, immediately available, which has just been made by the American Red Cross. This money will be paid in two installments: $100,000 this month and $100,000 in December; to the Warsaw Polish committee, of which Prince Lubomirski, the President of Warsaw City and Archbishop Kakowski, of Warsaw, are members.

The entire present generation in Poland is facing immediate starvation. The Red Cross has been asked to furnish relief by sending food as was done in Belgium. The present donation has been made with the idea of extending some immediate relief.

MOORE ENTERS LISTS

HE SEVERELY CRITICISES OUR NUMBERING SYSTEM—ADVOCATES RADICAL CHANGES

There is nothing neutral about Clem Moore. He either IS or he ISN'T, and he has the courage of his convictions sufficiently strong to put them on record. Hence it is that Mr. Moore has entered the lists as a champion of the suggestion to change the name of Brand boulevard to "Glendale boulevard," and with the further suggestion that the original, familiar Glendale avenue be dubbed "Watson street" in honor of an old and distinguished family which has been prominently identified with the civic betterment of Glendale.

"As to the numbering system, it is very bad," declares Mr. Moore. "I have advocated a change ever since I came to Glendale. When we give an East Broadway address to a stranger who alights from a car in the heart of our business district and he travels more than a mile and is still on West Broadway, what sort of an impression does he get of our city? Brand boulevard, our main business thoroughfare, should be the dividing line between East and West, and the North and South numbering should start at Broadway. Sacramento is the only city I know of that is numbered right. It is lettered one way and numbered the other. We cannot do that, but while we are at it, let's do it as nearly right as possible and be done with it. As to names, I would change only those streets that are duplicated.

Car Fares

"Then the next thing to do will be to get car fares reduced. I think the fare between Los Angeles and Glendale should be 10c one way, 15c for the round trip and 5c to commuter. Look at the distances to which passengers are transported within the limits of Los Angeles for 5c while we are paying 15c to travel one-third the distance!"

DEATH OF MRS. HENRIETTA C. WRIGHT

Mrs. Henrietta C. Wright passed away Monday morning at 3:45 o'clock. For years she had been an invalid following attacks of pneumonia and appendicitis. She was the mother of W. M. Wright, bookkeeper for the Glendale Hardware company and of Miss Mae E. Wright, high school teacher in Los Angeles. She was seventy-four years of age and was a native of Mississippi. She had been a resident of Los Angeles since 1889 until she came to Glendale three years ago, and was one of a large family, being related to the Harpers who were pioneers in Los Angeles. Funeral services will be held at the family residence at 1224 Doran street, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in which all her pastors of recent years will participate. The list will include Rev. Vernon H. Cowsert, Dr. Arthur W. Ryder, Dr. J. F. Watson, and Rev. H. C. Hurley. Interment will be made at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Killing frosts.

BIG TIME AT PACIFIC AVENUE BAZAAR

The annual bazaar given by the Pacific Avenue P.-T. A. Saturday evening, December 8th was a great success. The court in which this splendid affair was held, being covered over head with canvas, snug and warm, was artistically decorated in greens and bright colors, giving evidence of the great energy of the teachers and various committees who labored so hard to make this occasion a success. At the end opposite the main entrance stood a large Christmas tree, clothed in its holiday regalia by the eager hands of school children and radiating from all its glitter the silent message "Santa is coming." Stately in its significance it lent a magic atmosphere to the entire inclosure, giving encouragement and determination to the many children who responded with such eagerness to their turn on the program. Seeing all the little tots grouped about was a wonderfully inspiring picture in itself and one could scarcely help mentally reflecting, "If they could ever be thus, so full of anticipation, unconscious of the world's great struggle, unmarred by the evils of society, revelling in the abundance of life, just God's own children."

The fascination of youth in all its glory with just a touch of individual characteristic so enchanting to the proud parents and friends found abundant opportunity to unfold itself in both voice and personality.

Many of the children spoke for the first time, but without hesitancy and in loud clear voices. It was a great triumph from beginning to end. Mrs. Stone, the principal, in arranging the program made it complete in every detail. Among some of the impersonations were children dressed to represent a Christmas bell, candle, postal card, jumping-jack, brownies, evening stars, Santa Claus and there were songs and recitations too numerous to mention. Miss Hearnshaw in character songs created quite a sensation, also the Junior orchestra under the direction of Miss Wetherby, was greatly appreciated. However each and every one taking part from the first to the last did splendidly and all deserve great praise and much encouragement. At the conclusion of this program Madame Katharine Shank sang several Christmas carols with Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman as the able accompanist. Madame Shank, generous of heart, has ever been most kind in gladly responding to the P.-T. A. appeal for genuine talent. Her sweet, rich voice and perfect ease will long be remembered by the happy throng who greeted each song with hearty applause and at the conclusion had the privilege of meeting in person one of the greatest favorites on the Pacific coast. After clearing away the chairs, the sale of the many beautiful and useful gifts, candy and good things to eat took place. The different booths so beautifully decorated were eagerly sought and at times it was hard for the ladies in charge to meet the demands of those buying. Mrs. Herald as Ways and Means chairman, appointed the following ladies to officiate at the various booths:

Candy, Miss Eva Daniels, assisted by Mrs. Johnson; Aprons, Mrs. Hearnshaw, Mrs. Sawyer; holders, Mrs. Heasley, Mrs. Gilbert; fancy work, Mrs. Spradling, Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Lucas; refreshments, Mrs. Hanning, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Waller, Mrs. Tronsier; cooked foods, Mrs. Finch, Mrs. Austin; grab-bag, Mrs. Herald, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Robison.

Mrs. Sherman, president of the P.-T. A. and Mrs Stone, principal of the school, assisted by all the teachers, acted on the hospitality committee. Mr. Hartmann and D. H. Johnson assisted during the afternoon in arranging the tables.

CHILDREN ASK RECOGNITION

Marshal Hale,
942 Market Place,
San Francisco, Cal.

We, the children and young people of Glendale, do hereby respectfully petition that the National Red Cross Society authorize a series of service pins for the high school students and another series for the students of the grammar and elementary schools, in order to stimulate the interest of the boys and girls of the United States that they may more willingly give up a part of their leisure hours from personal pursuits and amusements to the arduous and unromantic tasks of cutting filling for ambulance pillows and raising money for the Red Cross through the collecting and selling of junk in the salvage department.

We would respectfully suggest that for the high school students the first pin be presented in recognition of 200 hours' volunteer service in the above-mentioned work, the second for 400 hours, and the third for 800, and that for the grammar and elementary grade students the first pin represent 100 hours, the second 200, and the third 400.

We have gained courage to make this request from the fact that though a town of only 8000 inhabitants we have, since we began June 5th, 1917, working during our vacation and after school hours, turned into the Red Cross $387.68 and we have only begun. Moreover we believe that with the aid of official recognition we could have accomplished much more and that with this recognition the children and young people of the whole United States would join in the work thus causing to pour annually into the treasury of the Red Cross hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Respectfully submitted:

Service Pins

Every child in Glendale who has worked outside of school hours in the ambulance pillow or salvage repartment of the Glendale Red Cross is invited to come to 312 South Brand between the hours of 3:30 and 5 o'clock on Wednesday, the 12th and sign the foregoing petition which we are anxious to get started on its way to Washington before the holidays.

M. DOUGLAS.

A SURE FOUNDATION

There were the usual number of intensely interested men and women present at the Cerritos Avenue Parent-Teacher Association last Friday.

Miss Ella Stevers, the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium instructor, after a pleasant consultation with Principal Dickerson met the Seventh and Eighth grades on the play grounds. The children were all attentive and quickly all were in the game. While these were busy with their teachers supervising them, Miss Stevers formed the next two grades in play, until all the school was playing.

The games indulged in were relay running races, relay walking races, fox and geese, cat and rat, follow my leader, touch ball, three deep, circle tag, corner ball, basket ball, etc.

The teacher of each class entered into the sport, while the grown ups enjoyed the competitions and happy peals of laughter from both the teachers and pupils.

At 3:15 John McCormack's voice was heard singing the national hymn in the hall. Miss Mable Todd led in the salute to the flag. Miss Meagher sang two pleasing selections. Miss Velma Gilmore gave two appropriate readings very gracefully.

The Philanthropy committee reported Thanksgiving baskets of cheer were sent to 30 families by the Glendale Federation, eight of them to Cerritos district and one beyond to a family of six dear children in Los Angeles. This week the children are bringing Christmas cheer of food, clothing, fruit and toys which will be placed in the Christmas baskets.

Miss Helen White the instructor in Agriculture of the Glendale schools gave an address on "The Value of Nature Study and Agriculture in the Education of the Child." Miss White said:

"Nature study as a part of every child's education has for the greatest argument for its existence the very fact that the children love it. It develops in the child an appreciation of the little things in life—the common things which are so beautiful. Richard Stanley Lee says, 'The most cultured people are those who find the greatest joy in the least things.' It develops the child's powers of perception, his sight, hearing and even his sense of smell. He who has never caught the scent of the woods can not get out of song, poetry or a good sermon all that is there held in store for him.

"Nature is a companion, a teacher and a healer for children. To grow up without the fear of snakes and spiders is worth every minute spent with her. The balance which she maintains helps the child in understanding the great purpose back of life and death. She instills within the child a love for the beautiful and the unconscious appreciation of rhythms which can not fail to help in any profession or occupation.

"Nature study or nature play, as Dr. Edwards, of Los Angeles, calls it, may be correlated with almost every subject studied in the grammar grades. Pictures, charts, stories, beside the living specimens and field observations aid in the drawing, language, geography and hand work.

" 'The Song of Life,' series of lessons presented last year taught the child a wholesome and beautiful lesson of the origin of life. The 'mother-pistil' and 'papa-pollen' of flowers started the series through fish, toads, reptiles, birds and mammals. For this year thus far, crickets and sea-life, particularly mollusks, have been the subjects under discussion. The text book used in the intermediate school "Agriculture Through the Home and School Garden" was briefly reviewed by Miss White, who explained how its chapters were presented in the class room. The Sixth grades of the various schools help in the upkeep of the grounds and school gardens.

Miss White urged the starting of home gardens now, by spading or plowing in order that the winter rains may soak in and thus aid in the preparation of soil food for the late winter or spring crops.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Hartmann both pledged their support in every way possible to carry on this home garden study of which Miss White so beautifully told us.

There were many names enrolled and a jolly good time ended the afternoon. No refreshments were served. Eat less, think more.

Our P.-T. A., God bless it!
It helps us in our lives;
It makes us better mothers,
It makes us better wives.
The reason is not far to seek,
For be it understood,
It does us good, just to belong
To this club of motherhood.

AN OIL FARM

Carlton Martin and family of San Fernando boulevard, may return to Kansas in the near future. They own 80 acres of land in a district in which oil has recently been discovered, and drilling has already been begun on acreage adjoining theirs which is owned by Mrs. Mary T. Chadwick, of Gardena avenue, who, with her daughter Flora, is now in Kansas. The friends of the Martin family will be very sorry to lose them from Tropico, but hope they will strike oil and become "disgusting rich" in the process.

DR. JULIA SETON

Those who were fortunate enough to have heard Dr. Julia Seton at Masonic Temple last Sunday morning will not forget very soon that wonderful message. "The New Story of Health" was told with great power and conviction.

"One-half of humanity are ill. What is disease? Why all these sanitariums and hospitals? Why are we ill? I am not talking to be believed or approved. New Thoughters are not reformers but life-builders.

"First, what is the cause, or tap-root of disease? The old idea was that the invalid was a little finer and better than his more robust brother, that he was one whom the Lord loveth and therefore chasteneth.

"There is only one substance, that is God or Divine Mind and Intelligence. Throughout the universe, we see manifested the two actions of Divine Intelligence. These are destruction and construction. The universal mind manifests to man through four forces, earth, air, fire and water. All of these may be constructive or they may be destructive. Think of the soft balmy air, then of tornadoes and mighty destructive winds. Think of the life-giving water, then of the torrent, the dashing waves destroying ships and life. Think of the sun's warm rays, of the constructive force of fire, then of deserts of burning cities and ships.

"Think a while; that's what the world doesn't do. Man is a little world within this big world. There is only one Intelligence and that God Intelligence is within you. Universal Intelligence and man's intelligence are one. Then what is the cause of disease? Man's own state of mind, that attitude of mind which destroys, consumes, withers and decays. Why are babes born diseased? Because of the condition of men's minds before us. Through this unconscious relationship with destructive forces, disease comes.

"The world is learning the danger of destructive thinking. We are marking out fear, hate, worry, and limitation. As the race man has a higher revelation of the divine mind, love, peace and joy result.

"Man in the past looked outside for the cause of disease so he looked outside for the cure. Disease begins within the consciousness of the individual. In order to cure disease, you must build a health consciousness. There must be a conscious realization of divine law. You know how quickly thoughts can take away mental pressure. A word, or glance or clasp of the hand will sometimes produce instant peace or joy. Build a new health consciousness, wherein are peace, non-resistance, love and joy. Believe in your own Godhood and you will have a new position in life. We have never tried non-resistance. Jesus tried to teach it. Let us build a new mental attitude with no worry or fuss, no strain.

"The cure for strain is the exact opposite, rest, divine repose. Disease in the body comes through pressure on the mind. You are magnets. You attract from the universe those things which belong to you. Do you want to know how to get rid of everything you don't want? Forget it.

"We must have the divine realization if we would gain spiritual supremacy over disease and poverty. Come into the consciousness of divinity; know you are one with God, with great forces. We are individualized gods. Our mind and the Universal Mind are one.

"You can't send out thoughts of hate or resistance without receiving the effects of your destructive thought. And you can't send out thoughts of love, peace and harmony these constructive forces, without receiving according to the measure ye have meted out, these in return. There is no such thing as incurable disease. There can be instantaneous healing if you can contact with the spiritual revelation and realization."

LAST LIBRARY MEETING

Members of the Tropico Library Board gathered at the library Monday evening for what was, in all probability, their last meeting before the affairs of the city are turned over to Glendale officials. The Board consists of Walter J. Hibbert, president, Luella Bullis, secretary, Mesdames William Harvey, Jr., Merritt Ludden, and Miss E. G. Gibbs.

The report of Librarian Charles Cushing contained some interesting statistics and showed that the shelves now hold more than 3000 volumes, the majority modern works of fiction, reference and literary miscellany. Circulation for the month of books and magazines totalled 1390, and reading room attendance 381. Seventeen new cards were issued to readers of juvenile books, which is a fair indication of the popularity of the library with the boys and girls. If anyone has doubts on this point, he should spend an afternoon there or drop in of an evening and see the children trooping in on their way home from school. Then too, it is a good safe place to leave a boy or girl when mother comes to the Red Cross meeting at the City Hall Thursday nights. The total number of card holders at the present time is 732.

It is well that Glendale has promised to maintain the Tropico library for if she had failed in that regard she would have annexed trouble in voting to take Tropico into her municipal fold. The library and the fire engine are two things which the little city will not surrender without a struggle.

No special business came before the Board. Bills were audited and ordered paid, and a list of new books recommended by the librarian was discussed. Housewife members balked a little at the purchase of war cook books and food conservation treatises, declaring they were already surfeited through the medium of newspapers and magazines, but finally agreed it would be well to have something authoritative for the instruction of any possible seeker after knowledge along that line.

SERVICE FLAG DEDICATED

A beautiful though simple program marked the dedication Sunday morning, of the Service Flag of the Tropico Methodist Church on which six stars have been placed for young men of the church who have gone to Uncle Sam's camps, viz. Will Marple, Will Hewitt, Roger Baker, Ed White, Wallace Cramer and Elmer Philips.

The choir sang with fine effect "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Mr. Marple sang a solo, Dr. Henry Goodsell offered prayer, and the names were read.

A beautiful address was then made by Pastor B. C. Cory in the course of which he said:

"These sons have been called out on the great adventure. They have perhaps had their dreams, as other boys, of sailing on the great ocean. Now they are going to make their venture of seeing Europe and they are going to see it under the most tragic and wonderful circumstances. They are to have the greatest tour of Europe that men ever made, for never were young men called out in so great and so transcendent service of God and humanity, as these young men are now called to.

"They are your boys. You have thought perhaps that they were not as sober and earnest, oftentimes, as you wished they might be, that they did not think as earnestly of the great things of life as you wished; but this call has transformed them from boys to men. They go out now to the greatest education, the most thorough discipline that can come to men, and if they come back, which we trust they will—for there are nine chances out of ten that they will—they will come back deep-eyed, strong-limbed, grand men such as perhaps they never could have become had they not gone on the great adventure.

"Now we will not be sorrowful. Though every mother's heart is breaking, it may be, yet will she hold up her head with pride and with a solemn joy that she has a son to give to this great service for humanity.

"So we dedicate this flag. We will look upon it and pray for them and keep them in our hearts until the boys come home."

METHODIST CHURCH ITEMS

Will Marple, of Tropico, left Sunday morning with the Navy Base Corps for France. A host of friends gathered at the depot to bid him Godspeed. Will was an active worker in all departments of the Tropico Methodist church and his life was full of service for the Master.

Mrs. T. J. Meagher was elected vice president of the Tropico Epworth League to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Will Marple.

The Woman's Missionary meeting is to be held at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon. It is the first time Mrs. Cory has had an opportunity to entertain the organization, and a good attendance is expected.

Tropico is tremendously interested in its Red Cross organization and its bazaar which will be held Thursday afternoon and evening of this week will probably be a great success. Members are working hard preparing stock for sale and contributions to the various booths are still being received. Mrs. Hattie Tiffany is the secretary and will gladly receive donations. Articles for the "White Elephant" booth, and for the tables for childrens' clothing, are especially desired. Refreshments will be served, also candies and ices, and there will be a program in the evening worth while.

Mr. Putney, of Sawtelle, has purchased an interest in the Tropico Groceteria on Brand boulevard near Cypress street, and will hereafter be associated with O. A. Gallup in conducting the business. Mr. Putney has leased the house at 215 Blanche avenue which has been vacant for some time, and the neighbors are rejoicing over the fact that all the houses on their street which have been vacant are now occupied.

WILL NOT HOMESTEAD NOW

Marshal "Billy" Gould returned Sunday from the Imperial Valley whither he went to investigate farming conditions and the outlook for securing desirable government land. He was much impressed with the business activity in all the towns he visited, and he went to nearly all of them, and is full of admiration for the splendid crops of the valley. He called on Oliver Spear, who has a nice piece of land just at the end of the Mexican-American Land and Water company ditch. He has decided not to take up land until the All American Ditch comes in. Uncle Sam is to finance that project and his hands are now so full of things no one can prophesy when he will be able to engineer the ditch. When he does, a lot of splendid land will be opened up.

GENEROUS PYTHIAN SISTERS

At their meeting last Friday at the K. P. Hall, Pythian Sisters voted to make another donation of $5 to the Tropico Red Cross Auxiliary. They also gave $25 to the Twin City Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The Sisters and Knights are to have a combination Christmas tree, but the date has not been announced.

In the daily routine of life you ask of those with whom you come in contact both honesty and fairness of treatment.

More so, than ever, do you need such help during the sorrows of bereavement. Then, as at no other time, you ask and have a right to expect conscientious service—the kind "you" yourself would give were you able to do so.

You ask and expect an impressive service, free of needless expense, yet fitting the occasion.

In using Scovern-Letton-Frey Co. service either in our mortuary, at the church or in your own home, you will find all these requirements met—quietly, restfully and in good taste.

VISIT CAMP KEARNY

and 136 men attended. They are organized in small groups of ten each so that the men can ask questions and enter into the discussion.

" 'The most important work we do though,' continued the secretary, is in meeting and helping men with their individual problems. For example, as I was waiting on a long line of men at the counter last evening a young fellow came in hurriedly, made his way up to me and said: 'Can you talk to me.' 'Yes,' I said and retired to a room where the young man very much agitated unburdened his heart and in two minutes we were praying together. He went out heartened and strengthened for the fight he was putting up for the high ideals he wanted to have in his life.

"Well," said Mr. McRae, "I could go on and tell you much more about the influence of the Young Men's Christian Association at Camp Kearny, but I must not take your time. I do however, want to speak of our visit to the splendid building owned by the Knights of Columbus. It was packed to the doors too, standing room being at a premium. The promptness with which hats were removed and a passageway made impressed both Mrs. McRae and myself. Mr. Brink, the gentleman in charge, was most courteous and explained the program carried on which was similar in many respects to that carried on by the Y. M. C. A. except of course that Catholic services were conducted on Sunday and at other times for the Catholic young men.

"Then there is our visit to the hostess' house of the Y. W. C. A. I must not forget. Mrs. Fishburn in charge has a boy already in France and another in the service, so she understands the soldier boy, his need of a bit of mothering and the touch of home which the splendidly appointed hostess house with its cheery open fire place gives. 'Isn't it just an oasis in the desert,' remarked Mrs. McRae as we left. Just about what I was thinking, too.

"Being a man Mr. Editor," added McRae, "you will be interested in the food they give the boys. Well through the courtesy of bugler Johnson, of Company M, of Riverside, whose mother was one of the party, we had the privilege of 'messing' in a regular 'mess hall.' 'More of the beans, please.' 'Pass me the jelly again,' 'I simply must have another piece of that bread,' were some of the remarks by the ladies while the men simply kept busy.

"All in all, our visit to Camp Kearny was most delightful and we came away fully assured that Uncle Sam with his various assistants in the form of the organizations mentioned, was caring for 'the boys' in a very satisfactory manner."
